Minden council cool to request

A request for donations of money or used equipment to equip the rescue bus stationed in Haliburton, has received a cool reception from Anson, Hindon and Minden Townships Council. The request was contained in an article in a publication entitled Code 4.

The bus was donated to Dysart et al Township by Travelways Bus Lines, for conversion into a rescue unit. The bus is equipped to handle a large number of emergency cases at one time, such as might occur at a large gathering or an accident involving a bus.

Township Reeve Sinclair Nesbitt said he was concerned that the bus had been donated to Dysart et al Township. He said he felt the bus should have been given to the Haliburton County Ambulance Service, so that the vehicle would serve the entire county. Until that is the case, the reeve suggested the council should not contribute anything to its upkeep. He also stated that on several occasions when the vehicle was needed, it had failed to start.

The bus was in attendance in Minden during the Haliburton County Fair this past weekend.

The article in the magazine specifically requests a piece of equipment known as "the jaws of life". These hydraulically operated spreaders have been used in the past to remove individuals trapped in vehicles.

Councillor Stuart Brandon stated that the Minden Rotary Club had been approached about donating the jaws of life to the bus, but

Council split on permit for "seasonal" residence

Anson, Hindon and Minden Townships Council was evenly split over a request to allow a permanent residence in a subdivision which had been zoned for seasonal residential purposes only. The motion approving the request stated that a building permit for a seasonal residential dwelling be granted even though all members of the council heard the applicant, Mr. D. Atkinson, state that probably in the near future the dwelling would become his permanent residence.

The lot in question is located in the Burch subdivision, adjacent to Mountain Lake. When the subdivision had been established several years ago, one of the provisions included by the Ontario Municipal Board was that the area be used for seasonal residential purposes only.

That designation was one reason the request for a building permit had been brought to the council's attention in the first place. By-law enforcement officer Dick Schell told the meeting he was concerned that the applicant did not have, at the moment, "a permanent dwelling at another location" as stipulated in the restricted area by-law of the township.

The council agreed that the rented residence which the applicant now occupied constituted a permanent dwelling and that he was entitled to request a building permit for a second, "seasonal" dwelling.

Councillor Stuart Brandon asked the applicant during the discussion of the question, whether he planned to maintain his rented accommodation as his first home once the seasonal dwelling had been completed. Atkinson admitted that the dwelling would become his permanent home once it was built.

Brandon said that if the building permit request was approved, the council would be acting contrary to the subdivision by-law. He pointed out that there had been objections by area residents when the subdivision was first proposed, which was one of the reasons the "seasonal" designation was included on the properties in question. He said those who objected would probably speak out again on the matter.

Brandon stated that the change means the entire by-law establishing the subdivision would be nullified.

Reeve Sinclair Nesbitt disagreed. He said the approval was only for the one lot and was similar to a minor variance. He indicated that the remaining portion of the subdivision was still classified as seasonal residential.

Those voting in favour of granting the permit to Atkinson were Reeve Sinclair Nesbitt, Deputy Reeve Doug Pritchard, and Councillor Lyle McKnight, Councillors Stuart Brandon and Len Lonsberry were opposed.

Interpretation

A Secondary element to the discussion surrounding the granting of the building permit was the meaning of the term "seasonal".

It was pointed out that seasonal once meant summer use only, but now that more cottages are being winterized, the structures are suitable for year round activities. It was suggested, for example, that a resident could claim to be using a dwelling on a seasonal basis if he or she were to live in another location one month of the year and reside at the "seasonal" dwelling for 11 months.

The interpretation of the seasonal designation was not resolved by the council, but it has become obvious that the summer only connotation that most would have attached to a seasonal dwelling ten years ago, is now rapidly becoming less clear cut as year round use of cottages increases.

There are only a few areas within the Township of Anson, Hindon and Minden which have been designated as seasonal residential.

Stanhope hires chief and deputy

The re-organization of the Stanhope Township Volunteer Fire Brigade has begun. The township council took one of the first steps on the road to rebuilding the department when it accepted the application of George Wilson of R.R. 2 Minden for the post of chief.

Following an extensive advertising campaign in local newspapers Wilson's application for the post was the only one received. The council met with the applicant Thursday evening to discuss responsibilities and review the man's fire fighting background.

The chairman of the newly created fire department committee, Councillor Roger Wood, told the meeting Wednesday afternoon that the private meeting between the council and the applicant would be appropriate for both the council and Wilson, before the application is accepted. "I would like to have the meeting and get the ground rules understood," the councillor commented.

Wilson had been involved in fire fighting since 1958 and had served in the Pickering region.

The council had not received any applications for the position of deputy fire chief by the time the group met Wednesday afternoon. However, after the meeting a member of the former fire brigade, Harold Barjarow, expressed an interest in the post and council accepted his offer.

The by-law appointing the two men to the top positions in the Stanhope brigade was passed by the council with the provision that they assume their duties August 16 at 8 p.m. At that time a public meeting will convene at the Stanhope firefighters' community hall for the purpose of taking applications for the remaining positions on the brigade.

Second home suggested for museum location

An objection has been raised to the purchase of the Wright House for a historical museum in the Minden area. The Anson, Hindon and Minden Townships Council has been exploring the possibility of purchasing the house, located west of Minden Village, to serve as a museum.

However, at the August 8 council meeting, a letter was received from Minden ratepayer Judy Phillips objecting to the proposal. She stated in the letter that the house which has been offered to the township is not well located for a museum, is not in good condition and is not the oldest building in the immediate area that could be used for such a facility.

The township has been offered an old farm house adjacent to the new county road west of town. Roy Windover, who is opening a new subdivision in the area has offered the township the home and three lots for

Phillips, who is a member of the Minden Library and Cultural Centre Committee, suggested that the Michael Brown home on North Water Street would be a more suitable location for a museum. She noted that the home, currently occupied by Richard and Laura Kirkwood, is one of the oldest in the village, dating back to 1866. She pointed out that the home is in excellent condition, and is ideally situated on a one acre lot next to the Gull River.

She also noted that the Brown home is of sawmill plank construction, which she described as being "very rare". A two storey bay window also adds to the uniqueness of the structure.

Phillips also pointed out that the lumber used in the construction of the home came from a sawmill on Gull Lake and the home is now for sale.

"I'm not fully convinced that a separate museum building is necessarily desirable at this time," the letter stated, "but if the council wants to go ahead with the purchase of a separate building, I suggest you take a closer look at the Brown home."

The suggestion that a separate structure be purchased to house a museum was made after plans were started for a combined library and museum complex for the township. Fund raising for the complex, to be located on Bobcaygeon Road north, is continuing.

The council was also advised that if it wished financial assistance from the Ontario Heritage Foundation for the renovation of an older structure to serve as a museum, an application would have to be prepared which included recently taken photographs of the structure, restoration and architectural

FROM THE CHAMBER

By Bob Stinson

Quilt draw held at fair

When the Chamber, almost a year ago, considered the idea of having a "Haliburton is for Lovers" quilt made up for a raffle, director Barbara Bolin acquired a quotation and suggested design from Judith Tinkl. Because the directors wanted a hand stitched quilt they opted for a quilt made by the Eagle Lake Women's Association who followed, with Judith's permission, the design she had submitted.

When Judith was shown a picture of the beautiful job the ladies of Eagle Lake had done she enthusiastically asked for a copy of the picture, and of course bought a raffle ticket. On Sunday, Reeve Sinc Nesbitt drew Judith's name from among the 550 tickets that had been sold, and the quilt has come to rest with its creator. Congratulations Judith.

We hear complaints

With this year developing into a record tourist season in our area many people are being forced into using facilities during the "crunch", that they might otherwise avoid. It should not be too surprising but none the less disturbing, that we are getting a record number of complaints this year. It is only small consolation to note that all the complaints received are about businesses that are not members of the chamber of Commerce. This is not purely coincidence because we simply do not solicit memberships from businesses that we cannot comfortably recommend. Unfortunately the handful of business people who do operate with questionable ethics give our entire tourist area a black eye. When operators are simply rude, sloppy, and inconsiderate (etc.) they are not breaking any laws and there is nothing we can do to stop it. We should however make it our business to be aware of them, and avoid recommending them so that a minimum number of visitors will come into contact with their abuses.

If you hear of anyone who has a legitimate complaint about accommodation anywhere, they should be encouraged to put that complaint in writing to:

The Ministry of Industry and Tourism
Box 1410, Huntsville, Ont.
POA 1K0

Att. Win Bestwick

The ministry licenses all accommodation facilities and will follow up any complaint received from the person to whom the injustice was done. Energy crisis delays park

This Spring it was announced that work would commence this summer on a large "Theme Park" just east of Haliburton Village on highway No. 121. A recent telephone conversation with the president of Global International, the park developers revealed that the plans have now been temporarily shelved due to the uncertainty of the energy situation. With the substantial investment anticipated for this project we can understand them being concerned - but - all indications from this summer are, that with our relatively close proximity to the Metropolitan area, Haliburton's future is very rosy indeed.

Fall golf tournament

The first annual "Haliburton Highlands Fall Championships of Fun" is scheduled to get under-way on the weekend of September 28th-29th and 30th at Haliburton Golf Club and registrations are now being accepted at the Club House. The tournament will include a Wine and Cheese party on Friday and Dinner - Dance on Saturday at Bonnie View Inn along with a Champagne Brunch on Sunday. There will also be a lot of golf squeezed in between all the festivities. A great way to enjoy a weekend amidst our glorious fall colours in late September.

Rockhound fair

For many years the rockhounds have gathered near Bancroft to look for the wide range of mineral specimens that can be found there and in our eastern townships. Now, thanks to the considerable efforts of some folks like Ken and Lynn Binskin of Rockhound Rendezvous, Monmouth has its own Rockhound Fair in Wilberforce. Whether you are a Rockhouser, or just plain curious you will enjoy seeing the displays, swap shops, tours and demonstrations that will be held throughout the weekend there.

Grenville Stamp in Sunnybrook

Many of our members have been asking about Grenville Stamp, popular local businessman, who was critically injured in a car accident several weeks ago. He has endured a severe amount of pain and discomfort since that time but continues to progress slowly but surely. We are sure a card or letter from some of you would help cheer him in his continuing battle, and are pleased to provide the address for that purpose: Grenville Stamp, Unit C-4, Sunnybrook Medical Centre, Bayview Ave., Toronto, Ont.

Graduate

Cynthia Jane Archer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Archer, Minden, graduated from Georgian College of Applied Arts & Technology, in Barrie, receiving her nursing diploma. She is presently completing Registered Nursing examinations in Toronto. Cindy is a graduate of Haliburton Highlands Secondary School.

Seniors housing not completed yet

There is still a lot of work to be done on the Minden Senior Citizen's apartment building, according to a spokesman for the Victoria County Housing Authority.

Mary Jane Huffman told The Times on Thursday that leasing will probably not begin until sometime in September.

She said that all the applicants who were approved for residence have been notified.

"Right now I'm busy calculating the rents...we'll probably have to go through the applications again because some of those who were accepted won't want the apartment now," Miss Huffman said.

"I feel like I'm putting everybody off, but there's nothing I can do about it," she added.

Firemen re-activate Stanhope association

The Stanhope Firemen's Association was re-activated and a new slate of officers re-elected, last Tuesday night.

According to the treasurer, Bob Jennings, the executive was appointed unanimously.

On Wednesday afternoon, Mr. Jennings told Stanhope Council that the new officers are president Larry Hewitt, vice president Harold Barjarow and secretary Dale MacDonald.

After Mr. Jennings

requested that a motion be passed recognizing the re-activation, council felt that an acknowledgement of the letter on file would be sufficient.

The reeve, Jim Harrison, said the club should be run as a separate entity from the volunteer fire department.

Mr. Jennings agreed saying that funds raised by the association would revert to the township if the association were dissolved.

plans for the building.

The heritage foundation pointed out that it can provide money for preserving a historical structure, but that the actual purchase of the building would have to be arranged by the council. It was suggested the council approach Wintario if financial assistance was needed for the purchase of an old house.

The council agreed to seek the necessary professional advice on the purchase and prepare the application for the heritage fund.

Cool to request that a subsequent investigation had shown that the machinery would have been of assistance to the ambulance crew only twice in the past several years.

Reeve Nesbitt ended the discussion by commenting that the township should only consider contributing to the upkeep of the bus when the vehicle serves the entire county.

Residents can now give the gift of sight

Lion donation

Frank Dunsford of the Haliburton and District Lions Club present Minden Red Cross Hospital nurse Corinne Flemming with an eye bank container.

Residents of Haliburton County can now pledge their eyes for use after their death and be reasonably sure that their donation will safely reach the Toronto hospital where the eye transplants take place.

This assurance has come about through the purchase of two eye bank containers for the county by the Haliburton and District Lions Club. The containers will be located at the two area Red Cross hospitals.

The containers form a very important link between the donor and the recipient. Eye tissue deteriorates rapidly following death and improper handling can damage the organ. The containers ensure the eyes are held at a constant temperature during the transfer to Toronto and that damage through handling is minimal.

While the entire eye is removed from the donor, it is usually just the cornea which is transplanted into the eye of the recipient. Those eyes which have been donated and which cannot be used for transplants immediately are used for research purposes.

The first eye bank was established in 1955 at the University of Toronto. The present eye bank is a co-operative effort between the university and the Canadian National Institute for the Blind (CNIB).

According to the CNIB

nearly one million individuals have pledged their eyes and 11, 260 have actually been donated.

With the support of area medical personnel, donors will have their eyes removed immediately after death. Arrangements have been made through the Lions Club to have the eyes transported as soon as possible to Toronto.

Anyone wishing to donate their eyes to the eye bank can obtain a donor card and information pamphlet at the Minden or Haliburton Red Cross hospitals, Hyland Crest in Minden, Extencicare in Haliburton, from any Lions Club Member or from the chairman of the Haliburton county Advisory Board of the CNIB, Ron Barr.

New Program announcement

Mechanical (TOOL & DIE) Engineering Technician

A VITAL FIELD

As a Tool and Die Technician you combine your intellect with craftsmanship of the highest order to build the tools and machines used to produce and package all manufactured products.

There are three main branches to this field: Toolmaking, Diemaking and Mouldmaking.

Toolmakers make jigs and fixtures for holding work during production, and build special purpose machines for manufacturing, assembling, and packaging. Diemakers build blank and form dies for presses. Mouldmakers build moulds for forming all types of plastics in a wide variety of processes like injection moulding, vacuum forming, and thermosetting, as well as moulds for forming metals in such processes as die casting.

You could be called upon to build production tools when you are given a minimum of information. You will become an innovator — visualising the final product, working out practical ways to produce it, and then building the tools and machinery to make everything from ball point pens to aircraft components.

EMPLOYMENT

As a Tool and Diemaker, you will find a career that is both interesting and creative. In addition, you will be an excellent candidate for other positions in Tool Design, Manufacturing Engineering, and Production Supervision, which could lead to senior management posts.

The changing careers of Tool and Diemakers has helped accentuate the current shortage of people with this training, and the situation is now critical. The demand is high, and so are the rewards.

ADMISSION REQUIREMENTS

An Ontario Secondary School Graduation Diploma, which includes Grade 12 level mathematics, English, and a science, is required.

However, the program is also of interest to mature individuals currently or formerly employed in mechanical areas in industry who wish to become Tool and Diemakers. This prior experience could lead to exemption from much of the prescribed shop time, and provide such students extra opportunities to improve their academic background.

Successful completion of certain technical courses in secondary school may lead to exemptions also, as might equivalent work completed at other post-secondary institutions. All such cases are treated on an individual basis.

Following the plan

The Anson, Hindon and Minden Council may not have done anything overtly improper in approving the issuance of a building permit at its meeting last Wednesday afternoon, but we view the action as one that undercuts the process by which careful and orderly planning has evolved in the township.

When the council approved a permit for the construction of a dwelling in an area zoned for seasonal residential purposes only, all of those sitting around the council table were aware the applicant intended to reside in the home on a permanent basis. The applicant, who was present at the time of the discussion, told the meeting, when questioned by one of the councillors, that he planned to make the completed structure his full-time residence.

When the zoning for Beech subdivision on Mountain Lake was established several years ago, the seasonal residential restriction was placed on the development by the Ontario Municipal Board. While we are not aware of all the reasons for the restrictive zoning, we trust the OMB was acting in the best interests of the township and area residents at the time. We are aware that public hearings were held at the time and objections had been raised to any permanent residential construction being allowed in the area. The municipal board obviously agreed with these objections.

However, the council in a split decision has reversed this stand without the benefit of a public hearing, or without seriously reviewing the objections on which the seasonal restriction was based. Perhaps conditions have changed since the area was first zoned, but on the other hand, perhaps they haven't. Only a careful examination of all aspects of the request will determine that.

By allowing the construction to proceed, the council has opened the door to a potential flood of similar requests, requests based on the precedent set Wednesday afternoon.

The final irony of the situation in that while knowing full well the applicant intends to construct a permanent residence on the site, the motion approved by council only refers to the granting of a building permit for a seasonal residential dwelling.

The three members of council who voted in favour of granting the building permit are not being fair to the process of orderly planning in the township, nor are they acting in a responsible manner to the applicant who may, at some future date, have to explain to some authority how he came to have a permanent residence in an area zoned for seasonal dwellings only.

In the highlands

I stood by the side of a lake today
The water was clear and cold,
But the air was sparkling, bright and gay
And the sky was a sight to behold.

The silence was so commanding there
Yet there was nothing to hear,
Except memories that came so fast
Of other times held dear.

The soul responds to silence there
By erasing the toil of the day,
And I surely know what the poet meant
"The earth in solemn stillness lay."

I wish that there was room enough
In this old world of ours
For everyone to have such luck
Of solemn quiet hours.

I'm sure the strivings that are held
Would quickly fade away,
And all the world could then expect
A lovely, peaceful day.

REPORT FROM QUEEN'S PARK

By John Eakins, M.P.P.

The Ministry of Health must immediately review the security of the Queen Street Mental Health Centre in Toronto.

The recent shocking incident involving a staff psychiatrist further supports my appeal to the Minister regarding security and the ability of patients to walk off the premises.

A short time ago, a patient walked away from the Queen Street Centre, stole a car, and as a result of the car crash which followed, an innocent Lindsay area woman lost her life.

Last week the life of a staff member was placed in jeopardy due to the lack of adequate security measures at the facility. I agree with the anger expressed by my colleague, the Liberal Health critic, Sean Conway M.P.P.

Dr. Christina Mandelman is at present recuperating from her frightening experience in a Metro hospital, undergoing extensive tests to ascertain the extent of internal injuries. To date, she has not been contacted by a representative of the Ministry of Health.

She was attacked by a patient, who had locked the door of her office, preventing nearby staff from coming to her assistance, although they could hear her screams and actually witness the struggle. The system of security at the centre is so inadequate that it was necessary to wait some time until someone arrived with a master key, permitting staff members to enter and restrain the patient. Dr. Mandelman is convinced that within another two minutes, weakened by her prolonged struggle with her assailant, she would have been dead.

I feel justified in demanding that the Minister of Health lose no time in providing a full report on this latest incident with respect to Queen Street - the facility which he considers adequate to cope with the overflow situation caused by the closure of the Lakeshore Psychiatric Hospital. While of course a similar incident could have occurred at Lakeshore, at least there would not have been a prolonged delay in rescuing Dr. Mandelman, because all staff members at Lakeshore had keys to the offices.

Obviously, the Queen Street Centre is not suitably equipped to cope with this kind of situation. There is not even an electronic alarm system in place, although such an arrangement would be comparatively inexpensive.

Mainstream Canada

The Banking "Miracle"

By W. Roger Worth

Like Saul on the road to Damascus, Canada's bankers have suddenly seen the light, producing what must be considered a near miracle, if not the real thing.

For years, banker after senior Canadian banker has arrived in Ottawa ready to explain to government committees and agencies why it was impossible, really impossible, to pay savings account interest on a daily basis.

Canada's credit union and American banks had been doing just that, but the bankers swore it was impossible to follow suit.

Briefs from the prestigious and powerful Canadian Bankers Association - which represents the tightly-knit banking community - claimed updating their accounting systems to facilitate the change would simply be too costly and complicated.

A month ago, though, Bank of Montreal changed its tune, offering the impossible by paying daily interest to customers rather than on a minimum monthly balance. Other banks quickly hopped on the bandwagon.

Suddenly, at the stroke of a pen, all the expensive briefs and backup material outlining the banks' position were relegated to the nearest waste basket.

It isn't the first time the banks have been caught changing horses in mid-stream.

For years, bankers argued strongly that interest rates on term loans (most consumer loans) had to be similar for all banks because the cost of money was the same.

Then, little more than two years ago, after the trust companies invaded the banks' territory with lower term rates, the bankers produced another minor miracle. After more than 10 years of standard term-loan rates, the banks started to compete for the business, even to the point of offering prizes and other inducements.

What's important to note is that in both instances the bankers were able to achieve overnight what they had previously claimed impossible.

Canadians can now shop from bank to bank for lower lending rates, and daily interest on savings accounts gives consumers a fairer break.

Now the banks should take a closer look at their relationships with business customers, particularly the smaller firms that have complained for years that they have been treated shabbily.

If Canada's bankers can produce two miracles in a couple of years, they should be able to churn out at least one more now that the conversion to real competition seems to have taken place.

Roger Worth is Director, Public Affairs, Canadian Federation of Independent Business.

REPORT FROM PARLIAMENT

by William C. Scott, M.P.

The first of the meetings of federal and provincial ministers since our new federal government was elected took place when Agriculture minister John Wise met with his provincial counterparts in St. Andrew's, New Brunswick, for a three-day conference, on July 23 to 25.

At the conference, the main topic of discussion was agriculture development plans in the 1980's. Mr. Wise feels that substantial progress was achieved at the meeting on reaching a general consensus among all the provinces, that in future, the main emphasis in Canadian agriculture will have to be on marketing and transportation.

One of the key items discussed at the conference was a federal proposal to assist Canadian dairy farmers to increase production and boost exports of milk products. Under the federal proposal, each province would have the option of a small increase in its current quota allocation. On a national basis, the extra milk would be used to produce evaporated milk, whole milk powder or cheese, for export to countries other than the U.S. and the European Common Market countries.

According to the Agriculture minister, the Canadian dairy industry has gained new access for aged cheddar cheese exports to the European Economic Community (Common Market) as a result of the recently concluded GATT (General Agreement on Trades and Tariffs). Increased quotas for cheese exports to the U.S. have also come out of the GATT negotiations. There is, as well, the potential for increased whole milk product exports to other parts of the world, even though the domestic market will of course continue to be the primary customer for Canada's dairy industry.

In related discussions at the St. Andrew's meeting, the agriculture ministers agreed to set up a committee which would include producer representatives, for the purpose of studying the issue of quota values.

I am extremely pleased with these first positive steps which have been taken by the new government in the agriculture field. I'm confident that the federal plan to support expansion of Canada's dairy production will be of great benefit to the dairy farmers in Victoria-Haliburton. The Minister of Agriculture has promised that he will make public more details of the plan in the very near future, at which time we will be able to examine the federal proposals more closely.

I say there, is that Stonehenge?

Would it be possible to build a Stonehenge in Haliburton? Would it be as accurate in recording the movements of the sun and moon as the original on the Salisbury Plain in southern England supposedly is?

These are the questions that three high school students are trying to answer this summer.

But some of the answers are as elusive as many of the unknown facts about the original Stonehenge are.

Jackie Cox, of Haliburton, Mike Wright and Roger Hicks, both of Lochlin, are working under a Young Canada Works grant this summer in hopes of proving that it would be feasible to build a working replica of the ancient Stonehenge in Glebe Park in Haliburton village.

According to Mike, who is the project manager, with certain modifications made to the design of the monument, it would work.

The original Stonehenge, is made up of huge stones weighing up to 50 tons. Many theories exist as to how the stones were moved some 20 miles to the original site in the year 1500 B.C. and Mike says that it has been a re-occurring question as to how they could move that size of stone to the site in Haliburton, even in this day and age.

In an effort to overcome this problem, the students have thought that possibly the stone could be made by pouring concrete into a mold or a shell could be made of cement blocks and filled 'with something'.

The project came into being this past January when Haliburton Highlands Secondary School history teacher Frank Wallace asked Mike if he would be interested in building a model of Stonehenge and studying the possibility of building it right here in the Highlands.

Mike, who had previously written an essay on Stonehenge for his teacher, agreed and filled out the necessary forms for the Young Canada Works grant that would be needed to fund the project.

He received confirmation of a grant for $4,374 to be used for wages and supplies necessary to build the model.

Then he hired Jackie, a grade 13 graduate, and Roger who had just completed grade 11 with Mike.

The three then set to work researching the project and Mike began making scale drawings showing where the sun's and moon's rays would strike the stones.

"Because we're at a different latitude and they (England) are north and east of us, the difference between the point of setting of the sun and the moon and the differences between the distance between the magnetic north and true north, the location of the stones had to be slightly different," Mike pointed out with the aid of meticulously drawn plans of the original Stonehenge.

The students expect to complete a plaster scale model of the monument soon.

When completed it will be one-fiftieth the size of the finished product.

The students have suggested that granite, limestone or possibly concrete could be used for construction of the final Stonehenge copy.

Also included in the project is another model, this one of Glebe Park which will show off the final landscaping and the location of the stones.

The monument will be 100 metres in diameter and stones ranging up to a height of 13 feet will be included.

According to the students, the total building project will cost about $50,000 if the concrete can be poured to form the stones.

Right now the students are applying for grants to subsidize the building of the project. But Jackie says nothing has been confirmed from the ministry of tourism or other tourist bodies as yet. But since Stonehenge will be a real tourist attraction, it is hoped grants will be available.

To date, the municipality has said the group could use a sight at Glebe Park for the building of Stonehenge if it becomes a reality, Jackie said.

If the grants are arranged for next summer the three students hope to be able to work at it again, and possibly hire another student as well.

There was no indication if or when a coven of Druids would be employed to interpret or act as guides once the Stonehenge replica is in place.

Puzzle

Stonehenge project manager, Mike Wright of Lochlin, starts to place specific stones in their appropriate places. These stones were formed in plaster of paris molds. When the model is complete it will be one-fiftieth the size of the actual Stonehenge.

Team Work

Roger Hicks, left, Jackie Cox and Mike Wright work on the scale model of the proposed Stonehenge to be located in Glebe Park in Haliburton village. While the project is only a summer job for the students, they are all hoping to continue on the project next year if possible.

Along the Trails

by Roy Bates

"They've got to be crazy," seems to be the natural response from members of the general public when told of snowmobilers attempting to ride their machines on a lake in summertime. Not crazy at all, for such demonstrations of riding skill and the capability of the snowmobile to carry its rider across open water, provide a very worthwhile lesson in safety, a lesson which might very well save lives in a later emergency situation.

What does the average snowmobiler do when cruising merrily over the ice on a lake or river and suddenly is confronted with a strip or patch of open water dead ahead? The instinctive reaction is to slam on the brake and stop the machine, all too often the very worst move that can be made. If there is not sufficient distance remaining in which to stop, the sled will slide into the water or drop through the thin ice near the edge.

I am not at all sure that I would not do the same thing. I have never been confronted with open water, nor have I, as yet, attempted an intentional water crossing. I cannot say with any certainty what my reaction would be in such a situation. Would I try to stop? Would I veer away? Or would I have the presence of mind and the steady hand on the throttle to carry me safely to the other side?

One thing is sure. Watching other "crazy" snowmobilers travel hundreds of feet over water before splashing down makes the thought of an actual situation on the trail a lot less frightening.

Winter vacations

The Haliburton County Snowmobile Association's mailbox frequently contains requests for information on winter accommodations for groups planning winter vacations here. Each one receives a personal reply along with the latest edition trail map and a list of supporting tourist operators in or near the area indicated.

Our newest Trail Map and Snowmobiler's Guide, published last fall, contains more than one hundred ads and makes an ideal enclosure for such letters. Normally, the next step is for the potential visitor to contact one or more of the advertisers for additional information. Sometimes, however, the procedure is reversed. Note the letter reprinted below.

"11th July, 1979.
"Gentlemen,

"Myself and a party of friends are planning to take a winter holiday next year with our snowmobiles. We have sent away to various resorts in many areas including yours and received a number of brochures.
"We have a problem in as much as although the brochures describe the resorts in great detail, few of them explain what trail systems the resort has access to, how near, etc. etc.

"We have decided that your particular area offers the most to the snowmobiler and would like to spend a week in your part of the Province. Perhaps you could assist us by letting me know what resorts if any have immediate access to your trail system. A simple list of addresses will suffice, I can then contact the establishments concerned. Any trail maps and other literature you might be able to send me would also be appreciated.

"Thanking you for your assistance..."

This letter should serve as an illustration that snowmobilers are not as a rule greatly interested in a pretty brochure which was made up to sell the great fishing, the sports courts, the swimming facilities. If you are aiming to bring him back next summer this may help of course, but what the snowmobiler wants to know is, "How far must I ride a plowed road on gravel or bare pavement before I can reach the trail, and will I be able to ride all day or will I run out of trail within the hour? He will also want to know if the trail is groomed and if so, who grooms it.

His chief interest in your superb dining facilities will be whether or not you can pack him a hearty lunch that he can heat up or toast on a deadwood fire along the trail at noontime. Your bar may interest him, come evening, but he will also like to hear about the friendly tavern where he may spend a relaxing hour on his way back in the afternoon.

A simple mimeographed letter folded inside your present brochure will get you message across. But do it now, for snowmobilers are already making their plans for next winter.

Shingler heads Black Lake cottagers again

A. O. Shingler has been re-elected president of the Black Lake Property Owners Association. The re-election came at the group's annual meeting held August 5.

Black Lake is located in Lutterworth Township near Moore Falls.

Approximately 85 percent of the members were in attendance for the annual meeting. The members discussed a number of issues related to cottagers, including the effects of acid rainfall, the use of herbicides by Ontario Hydro and the municipalities and the re-organization of the Federation of Ontario Cottagers Association, (FOCA).

It was pointed out that the FOCA will need increased funding if it is to remain financially solvent and meet the demands placed on it by the member associations. Shingler suggested that a membership fee of $100 for each association would be a more realistic figure to ensure the future of the umbrella groups.

The gathering was also told of the annual meeting of FOCA. It will be held November 16 at Cedarbrae Collegiate in Toronto. As many members as possible were urged to attend.

Also serving with Shingler on the executive will be the following members: Dr. H. C. Brooks vice president, and Mona Dean, secretary - treasurer.

Man claims to be stabbed

After a man claiming to have been stabbed arrived at Minden Red Cross Hospital for treatment last week, police became suspicious because the men whom the victim said had stabbed him were at the police station at the time.

According to police the incident started when a fight began at a take-out food restaurant, Maggie's, on Highway 35.

James Cannon, 18 of Agincourt, and a friend began running through a field when some participants in the fight ran to the police station seeking assistance.

While running through the field, Cannon apparently fell on a sharp object and then claimed to have been stabbed.

Cannon was transferred to Lindsay hospital for further treatment but stuck to the story of being stabbed, even while being interviewed by Lindsay police.

Investigation by Provincial Constable Al Bibby.

Meal on a cob

Nothing can be more tasty this time of the year than a good feed of corn-on-the-cob. Ontario fields are just starting to yield their harvest and consumers can look forward to at least another month of fresh corn.

The Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food offers the following tips on buying, storing and preparing this ideal late summer meal.

To fully enjoy the delicious flavor and tenderness of sweet corn, food specialists at the Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food say it is important to eat corn as soon after picking or purchasing as possible. In just 24 hours after picking, corn can lose up to 50 percent of its sugar. So refrigerate the corn and plan to use it the day you buy it. If it is absolutely necessary to store corn, keep it in the refrigerator with the husks on and use it the next day.

Food specialists suggest a couple of things to watch for to determine the freshness of the corn before you buy it. Choose cobs that have fresh-looking green outer husks and dry silks. As the corn gets older, the silk will start to fall out. It isn't necessary to peel back the husk of the cob to determine the maturity of the corn. Just hold the cob tightly at the silk end, which is the last part of the ear to mature. If the corn is ready, you will be able to feel the firm large kernels through the husk.

The last step before sinking your teeth into the tender, sweet corn is to cook it to perfection. All it takes is 5 to 7 minutes for medium- to large-size cobs in boiling water. Longer cooking toughens the kernels. Remove the cobs from the water as soon as they're cooked. They will become water-soaked and lose flavor if left in the cooking water.

Just peachy

Ontario's tender fruit harvest is just starting to come onto the market. Many consumers take advantage of the glut of fresh, low priced fruit to set some aside for the winter months ahead. However, it is often difficult to compute how many peaches are needed for your canning, freezing and preserves.

The following report from the Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food offers guidelines on just how many peaches you'll need to fill your larder for this winter.

More of Ontario's peach crop is coming to market. If you plan to preserve some peaches, now is the time to do it! Redhaves become available this week, Loring's a little later in the month. Both are excellent varieties for freezing and canning.

Whether you plan to pick your own peaches or buy them, food specialists at the Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food tell you to decide ahead of time just how many you require for your preserving needs.

If your preserving plans include canning, note that a 6-quart basket of peaches contains about 8 to 10 pounds, and will yield about 4 to 5 quarts of canned peaches. A 4-quart basket (about 6 pounds) yields about 2 1/2 to 3 quarts. It takes about 2 to 2 1/2 pounds of peaches to yield 1 quart of canned peaches.

If you're planning to freeze peaches, buy as many as you think you'll use during the winter months, allowing about 4 to 6 medium peaches for every 4 servings. A 4-quart basket contains about 24 medium or 30 small peaches.

For making jam, check the amount of peaches required in the recipe you plan to use. As a general rule, 6 cups of crushed peaches will yield about 4 1/2 cups of jam.

When you get the peaches home, sort them according to their maturity. Ripe ones can be preserved the same day. Leave the unripe peaches at room temperature for a couple of days until they are fully ripened and ready to preserve.

Scarborough woman breaks arm as car rolls on Highway 519

Two Scarborough residents were taken to Haliburton Red Cross hospital a week ago last Monday after their car rolled down an embankment on Highway 519 near Haliburton.

Donna McMahon, 30, was treated for a broken right arm while James Shorrocks, 24, only received minor injuries.

The 1979 car received $2,000 damage when it slammed into guide posts and a fence.

Damage to the guide posts and fence was estimated at $100.

Investigation by Provincial Constable Jim Solway.

First crash caused second Over $3,500 damage occurred August 6 when two cars collided on Highway 35 just south of the Beach River Bridge. The two vehicles met on a curve shortly after midnight.

Janice Alderdice, 22, of Meaford, was northbound on Highway 35 when her vehicle skidded into a var. driven by Daniel White, 17, of Whitby. The White vehicle sustained $900 damage while the Alderdice car was given a damage estimate of $3,000.

Neither driver was seriously hurt in the mishap.

Shortly after the accident occurred a third vehicle became involved in the mishap. Janine Purves, 17, of Willowdale was travelling north on the highway. She swerved to avoid the cars involved in the accident and struck a number of guide posts along the side of the road.

Damage to her vehicle was estimated at just over $400.

The mishaps were investigated by Constable Boyd Jarvis.

Seven injured

Seven teenagers were injured when their car went out of control and it rolled over twice on Highway 519 near Redstone Lake Landing.

Injured in the crash were driver, Lorne Sokol, 19, of Toronto, Stuart Brown, 18 of Willowdale, Gilbert Benamov, 19 of Willowdale, Mark Hockley, 16 of Bowmanville, Ron Tokayer, 16 of Willowdale and two juveniles, both 15-years old, whose names were not released by the authorities. All occupants of the car suffered minor injuries.

The 1972 car they were riding in sustained $2,500 damage.

Investigation by Provincial Constable Brian Dunham.

The absent green thumb

For those people with a houseful of indoor plants, taking a summer vacation of extended length can create serious problems. Of course, tending the plants can be left with a trusted neighbour or relative, but who but the owner can intimately know the watering needs of that finicky rubber tree or geranium?

The Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food offers some timely tips in the following report on how to ensure that your house plants will make it through your absence with the least amount of trauma.

Vacation time requires ingenuity in providing adequate sunlight and water for household plants. A thorough watering of indoor and outdoor plants can keep most of them healthy for seven to ten days, says Bob Fleming, Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food horticulturist.

Houseplants should be moved from bright windowsills to locations with filtered light. If a long vacation is planned, a handy investment is an automatic watering device, available at local gardening centers and plant shops.

"A watering device can be made at home from a lamp wick," suggests Mr. Fleming. "One end is threaded through the base of the pot into the soil. Then the loose wick end is placed in a container of water below the pot. The water is gradually absorbed by the wick, keeping the soil moist for days."

If your bathroom is well lighted, the bathtub can be a temporary houseplant oasis for two weeks. Overturned lids or any improvised platforms provide a firm base for the plants. The water in the tub should just reach the base of the pots.

To create a humid environment, a plastic canopy may be constructed over the plants. Draping the plastic over a simple frame prevents smothering of the plants. Diseased or damaged blooms and leaves should be removed.

Large vines and tropical plants should be watered generously before leaving them on their own. They will not dry out for two or three weeks if placed in indirect light.

Outdoors, many home owners have a flourishing garden that warrants attention during vacation time. If possible, invite a neighbour or relative to pick the fresh produce. Beans, summer squash, tomatoes, and sweet corn should be harvested as they mature. Otherwise, the vegetable will spoil and production will dwindle.

Nature usually cares bountifully for outdoor plants, but to maintain moisture in hanging planters, remove them from exposed or windy locations.

Before heading to the cottage, check the condition of flowering perennials. Any dead blooms, that have the potential to sow impure seed in the flower bed, should be cut off.

Bowling greens open Saturday

The sport of lawn bowling returns to Minden this Saturday with the official opening of two indoor greens at the Minden Curling Club.

Members of the local lawn bowling club have been working most of the summer to secure the indoor bowling surface. The Astroturf like surface is now being installed and it is expected all will be ready for the first ball this Saturday.

The club has also received a grant from Health and Welfare Canada to assist in the establishment of the indoor greens.

An invitation has been extended to all members of the community to attend the opening ceremonies, which will take place at 2:30 in the afternoon. In addition, the Minden Lawn Bowling Club is now in search of additional members for its roster. Anyone wishing to join, or wanting to find out more about the sport, can contact club members at the opening Saturday, or write to the club at Box 66, Minden.

Car in Dorset vandalized

While attending a dance in Dorset last Saturday night, a Petawawa woman had all four car tires slashed and the windshield, rear window and right rear window smashed in her car.

When Jane Bionda went to leave the dance about 1:30 a.m. she found that the damage had been done to her car.

The vandalism to the 1978 car amounted to $1,000.

Provincial Constable Weldon Popp is continuing the investigation.

Ontario's new 30% incentive to invest in small business

Small Business Development Corporations Program

This new program is designed to encourage private sector investment in small businesses throughout Ontario by the formation of Small Business Development Corporations.

The Incentive

By land and by water

All the way Paul Prentice, of Minden, tried to cross the entire length of Head Lake at Haliburton last Sunday but didn't quite make it.

There was action on land and water this past weekend in Haliburton as the Kinsmen Club of that community sponsored two popular events.

Saturday afternoon Slippin' and Slidin' '79 drew a large crowd of spectators and entrants. The event was a four wheel drive obstacle course that tested the skill and speed of the drivers.

Taking top spot in the short stock category was Greg Breault of Windsor in a Jeep CJ5. Runner-up was Peter Turner of Toronto in a Ford Bronco.

In the long stock division Bob English took top spot in his Ford while Cleve Shaw placed second in a Ford Bronco.

The short super stock category saw darryl Demille win top honours in an International Scout while Eric Edwards placed second, also in a Scout.

Bob English was named top driver of the day.

Water sport

Meanwhile, on Sunday afternoon, two intrepid snowmobilers dusted off their machines to see just how far they could travel across liquid snow. The snowmobile on water distance event was held on head Lake in Haliburton with a large crowd of onlookers ringing the banks to get a glimpse of the action.

There were only two machines entered in the contest but it did not dull the enthusiasm of those in attendance.

Paul Prentice took top honours in this competition travelling 1150 feet over the regulation track. Paul made the trip on a Skidoo. Rob Egan took the runner-up spot on a Yamaha, travelling 475 feet over water before sinking.

As a finale of the afternoon, Prentice attempted to cross the entire lake. This exhibition run was probably the longest of the day as Prentice and his Skidoo made it almost halfway to the other side before the forces of gravity won out over inertia and the machine sank under his feet.

115th Fall Fair a t Fall Fair

From the traditional opening parade to the last circuit of the ferris wheel, the Haliburton County Fall Fair once again proved to be an overwhelming success.

The weather smiled down on the two-day event as sunny and warm conditions brought large crowds out to enjoy activities on both days. And, there certainly was no shortage of things to do, look at and enjoy.

The midway proved to be a popular attraction again this year with games of skill and chance and rides for all those whose candy floss filled stomachs could take it. For those interested in livestock, large and small farm animals of all kinds were on display for judging, or showing off their prowess in the centre ring.

Contests and entertainment to attract the interest of just about everyone on the Minden Fair grounds was available throughout the day with a gala hoedown Saturday evening drawing well over 600 patrons.

For the sports minded, a ball tournament wound its way to a conclusion Sunday evening with the Minden entry being edged out in the final contest.

Many other activities and displays were included in this year's fair and as the photographs on this page prove, it was an enjoyable two days for everyone who attended.

One of the highlights of competition that takes place is a multitude of classes. The following are some of the winners of those various contests.

Farm News and Views

Pasture Management Important to Dairy Farmers

Pasture management is an important consideration for dairy farmers. Milk production levels have to be kept constant year round.

It is very difficult to know the quality of pastures. Quality changes during the season. Early spring growth is high in feed value. The value of summer growth falls rapidly.

As the season progresses it becomes necessary to supply extra feed to maintain milk production. This may be in the form of dry hay, corn silage or green chop. Feeding hay will also prevent a drop in the butter fat level which often occurs with pasture-fed cows.

If the pasture contains one-third to one-half legumes, less protein is required in the grain mix. A 13 to 14% grain mix is sufficient. The protein content should be increased to 16% later in the season.

There are a number of grazing systems which a farmer may use to keep pasture quality high. Cows may graze the entire pasture area for the summer. For this method to be successful, the pasture should be heavily stocked. It is important to clip the pasture, harrow and fertilize it regularly.

Rotational grazing divides the pasture area into sections. Each section is grazed by the whole herd for less than a week. The cows then move on to the next section of pasture. This allows the first grazing area a chance to grow back. New pasture is available to the animals every week.

Fresh, daily grazing should also be considered. Cows are turned into fresh pasture every day. An electric fence is used to divide the pasture, areas and is moved daily.

Some dairy farmers may prefer to bring the pasture to the cows. This is called green chop and eliminates waste and fencing. However, a harvester, a feed wagon or a self-unloading wagon and a feed bunk are required. Daily harvesting is also necessary.

Fall care for pasture is quite important. It should be rested in the fall. This allows time for the plants to prepare for winter and next spring's growth. Harvesting or grazing during September reduces next year's yield. Fall top growth holds the snow and keeps the plant roots warm.

Merchants take Bobcaygeon 4 - 1

The Minden Merchants grabbed a victory from the Bobcaygeon Blue Jays Wednesday evening in a game that saw three home runs. The merchants took the visitors by a 4-1 margin.

Homers for the merchants came off the bat of Bernie Nichols, with no one on base, and Rick Hartwick, who brought home a second run with his round tripper.

The only Bobcaygeon run came on a homer as well.

The Merchants held the visitors to a close game of ball, not allowing any opposition player to get past second base, except for the home run.

Jack Snell was credited with the win for the local team while J. Kimble took the loss.

Fair tournament

The Merchants made it to the finals in the Haliburton Fall Fair baseball tournament but Fenelon Falls managed to capture the silverware in the championship round. The final score was 3-1. In the consolation round the Lindsay Juniors defeated a team from Toronto by a 7-4 margin.

Grant to Glamorgan seniors

Over $8,000 has been given to the Glamorgan Senior Citizen's club, of Gooderham, under the New Horizons Grant program, Bill Scott, MP for Victoria-Haliburton, announced last week.

The grant of $8,452 will be used to implement a social recreational program for the members of the club. Proposed activities include crafts, sing-songs, dances, darts and shuffleboard.

The new horizons program is administered by the federal Department of Health and Welfare and assists groups of retired people to create projects for the benefit of other senior citizens in the area.

Seniors interested in the Glamorgan club should contact Ivan Hunter in Gooderham, the club president.

STANHOPE NOTES

by A. F. Stevenson

We understand that a new man has been selected to serve as Fire Chief of the Stanhope Fire Department and also another to fill the position of Deputy Fire Chief. At the public meeting to be held Thursday, August 16th, applications will be accepted from those wishing to become members of the re-organized fire department. The public is urged to attend this meeting and particularly those who may be interested in becoming members of the volunteer fire fighting force.

The new tennis courts are proving to be quite an attraction and have been in steady use since being made available last week. Arrangements are being completed for the Festival of Fun day Saturday August 18th. The committee hopes that the public will be on hand in large numbers for the official opening of the community centre.

Questions have been raised regarding the disposal of any income from the event. Income derived from sale of the barbequed beef, pop, hot dogs, and from the dance to be held in the evening, will be used to pay the expenses involved in putting on the affair. Any surplus after expenses will go into a special fund to be used toward a Stanhope Day next year, since it is hoped that if this year's event is well supported, it will become an annual event.

Horseshoe pitching enthusiasts are reminded to be on hand on the 18th between 9 a.m. and 10 a.m. to register. Donations to the bake sale will be gratefully received during Saturday forenoon at the firehall.

The art show at the Library, is part of the festival program and will have works on display by a number of fine artists. Among the paintings to be seen are a number by Pauline Kuhla who has been kind enough to place several of her paintings of Haliburton and Muskoka scenes. Unfortunately the artist will not be present due to the fact that she has an engagement in Ireland. Two valuable paintings in the possession of Councilman Harry Davis will also be on display. Some excellent local artists are also displaying their work and there is no doubt that the quality of their painting will provide a pleasant surprise for the viewers.

Residents from Extending care and from Highland Crest will be on hand and we hope they will enjoy the day as they join in honoring Charles Pader on the occasion of his upcoming 100th birthday.

The tent for the children's theatre and also for the puppet show will be in place Friday. Come Saturday and bring the children to enjoy that part of the program—it is free — and is put on by a qualified group of performers.

Trent Severn Waterway News

Water control

A week of higher flows from the Kawarthas, coupled with further rainfalls, has resulted in the Kawarthas receding to their respective maxima for navigation. Flows were reduced again on August 9th and 10th to near minimum down the Otonabee as the surplus came to an end.

Throughout the week, the reservoir flows have been reduced to minimum to benefit lake levels in Haliburton where nearly twice as much rain as in the Kawarthas was reported. Storage remaining stood at 75% on August 7th, about 1% more than last year and the highest for that date in the past five years. Rainfall over most of the Trent watershed this summer has generally been adequate. Peterborough itself had a very dry July as did many parts of Southern Ontario, but the Kawartha and Haliburton areas were not so hard hit by this drought. Rainfall in Haliburton areas were not so hard hit by this drought. Rainfall in Haliburton was actually greater than normal in July and so far in August.

Waterway's new Haliburton workshop to have solar heating

The new Haliburton area offices and workshops, scheduled for construction this fall, will look a bit unusual. Moreover, they will be heated, in part, by an unusual method — using forced air solar heating.

Circulated air, once heated in the roof panels, will circulate through the building and through large rock heat storage sinks. It is anticipated that 60% of the 1600 sq. foot building's heat will come from the sun, with the balance being provided by electrical heat, when required.

The solar unit is designed by the Canadian company, Solar Tech, and the installation of the system will be supervised by them.

As with any other solar heated building, the simple retaining of heat is more than half the battle. The Haliburton Workshops will be no exception, with 5.6 R.S.I. units of ceiling insulation, and 3.2 R.S.I. in the walls. The windows will be triple glazed.

SENIOR LEAGUE

The Civic Holiday weekend brought lots of visitors to Hyland Crest even though the weather could have been better. Many residents visited with families and friends from near and far over the weekend, and spent Monday just relaxing.

Monday, August 6, was a very special time for Mrs. Ethel Robinson who celebrated her birthday. The Kitchen staff presented her with a nicely decorated cake, while everyone joined together to sing Happy Birthday.

Tuesday morning, several residents went to the chapel to worship and take Communion with Rev. David Barker, of the Anglican Church in Minden.

Later in the afternoon, we made our way to the auditorium for the movies. The first called "Women in Environment", told how women in our society are trying to find ways to restore our lakes and control pollution. Several women were interviewed and were given a chance to explain their part in conservation. Through the media, they are educating the public to keep our environment clean and healthy.

"Wayleave" was all about the construction of the oil pipeline. This movie was filmed in Edinborough. The strip of land in which the pipe lays is about 23 feet wide and is called wayleave. We were shown the many difficulties due to different types of land and waterways. We also learned that any damage that is done, to things such as hedges, flower gardens, and trees must be repaired after the pipeline is laid. Both these films were interesting and educational, and our residents enjoyed them very much.

Wednesday morning at Fun & Fitness, we had a perfect score of 300 by Mr. Robinson when we played darts. We exercised and sang our good morning songs, while Doris accompanied us on the piano. The session was ended with our Kick the Ball game.

Later on in the afternoon, the ladies went downstairs to the Craft room to work on their different projects. We also had to get together a display for the Haliburton County Fair, on Saturday, August 11, and we are hoping to bring home a prize for all our hard work.

We had a most enjoyable afternoon on Thursday, when the ladies of Lutterworth pines brought a delicious lunch for the tea party. They served an assortment of tasty tea breads.

We had great plans for Friday afternoon, but because of the rainy weather, we were forced to stay at home. We were going to go to Furnace Falls for a picnic, and spend the day enjoying the sunshine. Those who had planned on going were disappointed, but are looking forward to going, when the sun decides to shine again. Being that we were confined to the indoors, we decided we would play Bingo. Doris called the numbers, and we had as enjoyable afternoon after all.

Remember folks, Mrs. Deumo would like lots of seeds for owl pictures. So long till next week.

Inuit series continues

The post office will issue four new stamps in the Inuit series September 13. The stamps continue a theme started two years ago showing various aspects of Inuit life.

Two stamps in the new issue will feature a shelter theme, while the other two will depict aspects of the Inuit community life. As with the former stamps in the series, the latest issue will make use of print designs and carvings created by the natives of northern Canada.

In the shelter pair, one shows a soap stone carving from Povungnituk, depicting a group building a winter igloo. The companion to this is a print from Cape Dorset showing a summer tent made of animal skins.

Soapstone is used again in the community series. This time two figurines depicting the Inuit drum dance are featured. This work comes from Repulse Bay. A Holman Island print completes the latest issue and shows an Inuit dance.

All stamps are of 17 cent denomination and all have been designed by Reinhard Derreth. Twenty million of each will be issued. Lithography is by Ashton Potter Limited.

The layout of both the shelter and community panes is 50 stamps, se tennant, with each of the two stamps of the pane appearing alternately across and down the pane in checkerboard fashion.

(If you have an interest in philately as well as writing, we would like to talk to you. Call The Times at 286-1288 and ask for the publisher.)
